Why is the Task Force holding this Summit?

The Private Sector Outreach Work Group of the Task Force is sponsoring its Second Annual Business Summit for the region. Business and industry continue to face many challenges with regard to emergency planning and response. This program will focus on current topics of interest, including: Cyber Security, Continuity of Operations Planning, Active Shooter, and interaction with governmental and non-governmental agencies.

This is an excellent opportunity to hear updates from local experts and interact with business partners to develop collaborative efforts to face current and future challenges.

We hope to see you at the Business Summit on September 16th!

What is the Task Force?

It is one of nine task forces established in 1998 throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in response to the growing threat of terrorist activity, such as the Oklahoma City bombing, facing our region and nation.

What does the Task Force do?

In addition to its counter-terrorism activities, the Southeastern Pennsylvania Regional Task Force has adopted an “All-Hazards” approach to planning for, responding to and recovering from major emergencies in our region.

Who leads the Task Force?

The Emergency Management Coordinators from the City of Philadelphia and the Counties of Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery make up the Executive Board that leads the Task Force.

Who serves on the Task Force?

Professionals from various disciplines serve on these workgroups:

- Critical Infrastructure
- Firefighting, Urban Search and Rescue, and Hazardous Materials
- Human Services
- Interoperable Communications
- Private Sector Outreach
- Public Health, Hospitals, and EMS
- Public Information, Education, and Community Outreach
- Public Safety and Security
- Public Works, Engineering, and Transportation
- Schools
