

The Solutions of IP Telephony

Consolidated Technologies, Inc. (CTI) is pleased to invite you to a Lunch-and-Learn seminar on "The Solutions of IP Telephony." This informative discussion will show you how intelligent communications such as VoIP (Voice over Internet Protocol) are expanding the reach and productivity of the traditional office environment.

If you're not sure how this new technology might apply to your particular business needs, or why you need it, this seminar is for you. Is IP Telephony worth the investment? How will it help your company in the long run? Is the technology stable enough yet to support all the claims? CTI will address all these questions, as well as teach you how the technology works and why it has such great potential to improve your business. And if you have questions of your own, we'll be happy to answer those as well.

"The Solutions of IP Telephony" will be held on November 2, 2006 from 1 to 4 pm in the The Fred DiBona, Jr. Conference Room at the GPCC (200 South Broad Street, 7th Floor). Sandwiches and refreshments will be served. To sign up for the seminar, please call Francesca Grande at 914-935-6086.
