The Chamber's County Breakfast Series

is about to kick off, focusing on the impact of Greater Philadelphia's 83 colleges and universities on our economic growth.

In collaboration with Wachovia, and following the leadership of the Chamber's CEO Council for Growth, the third annual series will feature representatives from leading educational institutions and businesses that have forged beneficial partnerships to improve the workforces of both their companies and the region.

Lincoln University will participate in the Chester County Breakfast panel.

The programs will also provide an update on the past year's progress of Select Greater Philadelphia, the Chamber's economic development marketing arm, and outline the new business ambassador initiative.
