

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

KIMBERLE LEVIN RECEIVES PIONEER AWARD

LOWER GWYNEDD, PA, October 19, 2006 – Kimberle Levin, President & CEO of Teknuko, an Information Technology Infrastructure Company, was honored by the Center City Proprietors Association on October 19, 2006 and received the prestigious Pioneer Award at the Association's Annual REAL Small Business Awards dinner at the Kimmel Center in Philadelphia, PA. The Pioneer Award recognizes a small business owner who goes where others fear to tread, taking big risks, investing in new territory and blazing new trails for others to follow.

About KIMBERLE LEVIN

Kimberle is an award-winning entrepreneur who has built and managed several multi-million dollar businesses in the information technology industry. A visionary, innovator, and gifted conceptual thinker, Kimberle is a highly regarded business leader and has consistently excelled and been recognized for her outstanding achievements.

Kimberle has been widely featured in many newspapers and magazines including: The Wall Street Journal, Philadelphia Inquirer, Business Philadelphia, Success Magazine, Philadelphia Business Journal, Computer Reseller News, Executive Female, Cosmopolitan and Incentive. She has been recognized by several organizations and has received numerous awards including Best CEO Under 40, Pennsylvania's Best 50 Women in Business, 40 Under 40, Top 25 Women of Distinction, Top 100 Young Entrepreneurs in the United States, Top 100 People to Watch and has had a guest appearance on The Oprah Winfrey Show.

More information about Teknuko and its information technology infrastructure services can be found at www.teknuko.com.