Relevante Hosts Internal Audit Symposium

Horsham, PA, July 18, 2007 – Relevante, Inc., a leading provider of consulting and staffing services, today announced it will host its “Internal Audit Symposium,” an informative, six hour, Continuing Professional Education (CPE) symposium geared towards accounting and auditing professionals. Some of the topics will include: Auditing Backdrop: Standards & Environment, Pulse of Large Enterprise Internal Audit, Corporate Fraud: Framework for Deterrence & Detection, Advanced Analytics for Fraud Detection, Fixed Assets-Fair Value Accounting, and IT Audit.

Leading audit analytics software provider, ACL Services Ltd., will participate and present in the symposium. “ACL is pleased to be supporting Relevante in the advancement of technology in audit. We are looking forward to this opportunity to further enable auditors to improve organizational controls, identify areas of waste and abuse, and adhere to regulatory compliance,” said Bernie Macht, ACL’s Sales Director - North America East.

The seminar, being held on Wednesday, September 12, 2007, from 8:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m., is the third in a series hosted by Relevante, Inc., which is designed to promote continued education in the accounting and finance field. Relevante will conduct the seminar at its Horsham location - 800 Enterprise Road, Suite 101, Horsham, PA.

Brandon Weinstock, CPA - Director of Project Consulting for Relevante, Inc., will open the comprehensive symposium designed for all finance and accounting professionals. “Internal Audit Symposium” will focus on the aforementioned topics that are important to all accounting and finance professionals. In addition to “Auditing Backdrop: Standards & Environment” topic, Mr. Weinstock will present “The Pulse of Large Enterprise Internal Audit,” based on the results he gathered to date from a survey he conducted of Internal Audit executives from mid to large size companies from New York to Baltimore. The ongoing survey is conducted through extensive one-on-one interviews in order to drill down into meaningful data and findings.

“The response to the seminars we have held over the past few years has been overwhelmingly positive. Industry professionals are learning new skills and techniques from seasoned experts within their fields. We are excited to have terrific speakers lead this symposium and anticipate that it will be equally as successful as our other seminars,” said William Brassington, Relevante’s CEO.

Seminar participants will earn six hours of Accounting & Auditing CPE credits. No prerequisites are required as the learning objectives of this entire conference is for the attendee to walk away with a basic understanding of the material presented as well as providing a future authoritative resource.
