PFCU Volunteers for Philabundance

November 19, 2007 – Throughout November, Philadelphia Federal Credit Union (PFCU) employees volunteered to help sort food donations for hungry area residents.

PFCU allowed employees to volunteer during normal work hours at Philabundance, a non-profit organization working to end hunger and malnutrition in the Delaware Valley. Each week, employees left their computers to support the organization's efforts this busy holiday season.

“I am proud of our employees for volunteering,” PFCU President/CEO James McAneney said. “It is an extension of the Credit Union Philosophy of ‘People helping People’. Many hungry children and families need this organization to survive. It is important for us to do what we can for this local organization by participating in this worthy cause.”

PFCU was founded in 1951 and is currently among the top credit unions in the city, serving the entire Philadelphia and Bloomsburg, PA communities, in addition to the owners, employees and directors of over 600 organizations throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.
