MALVERN, PENNSYLVANIA — January 21, 2008 - SecurElement Infrastructure Solutions today announced it has completed the definition and pilot testing of the innovative, logical, all-inclusive Managed Environment program. Offering high value at a controlled cost, businesses of any size are able to leverage leading-edge technologies and services that minimize costs, maximize productivity, drive bottom line success and solve critical business issues.

Utilizing SecurElement, organizations fully leverage technology goals and investments by maximizing security, stability and efficiency. Employees are able to return to their core competency without interruptions from technology issues. Custom configured environments begin with the CORE infrastructure offering and are complimented with additional modules that enhance an organization's MOBILITY, SECURITY, CONTINUITY, ENVIRONMENT and IMAGE enabling each organization to deploy the technologies most beneficial for core competency success.

"The Managed Environment program was created so small and mid-sized businesses are able to utilize new technologies that were, before now, only available to their much larger counterparts," states SecurElement Director, Marketing & Vendor Relations, Kate Knoll. "The different modules of the Managed Environment allow organizations to tailor solutions to fit their unique business needs and to address critical technology issues."

As part of the Managed Environment, SecurElement has instituted a greener environment initiative, whereby technology infrastructure solutions are designed, developed and maintained to conserve overall power consumption and minimize carbon outputs. Every SecurElement deployment is implemented with businesses and the environment in mind.
