

GLOBAL INTERDEPENDENCE CENTER
International Dialogue Since 1976

Emerging Leaders Committee Program

Wednesday, February 20, 2008

Back to School? An MBA and Your Career

Featuring

George Tsetsekos, Ph.D.

Dean of Drexel University's LeBow College of Business and GIC Board Member

- WHEN: Wednesday, February 20, 2008
6:00pm-7:00pm Light refreshment, Presentation, Q&A
- WHERE: Rauth Conference Room
Matheson Hall, Drexel University, Market and 32nd Streets
- PRICE: FREE for GIC Members
$15 for non-members
- REGISTER: Online at www.interdependence.org, or by calling 215-898-9453
Space limited to 12, with preference for GIC members

What are the benefits of an MBA vs. an Industry Designation?

What is the curriculum for a modern MBA?

What can an MBA do for my career?

Join the Global Interdependence Center's Emerging Leaders Committee for an in-depth look at what an MBA can do for your career. Whether you are a recent college grad, or considering a return to the University setting to further your career, you can gain insights into the MBA process from an education leader. Dean George Tsetsekos has been at the leading edge of innovative Business Management education for over a decade. He and his staff will lead the group through a "state of the field" overview, describing the possible routes to career advancement through higher education. The audience will have the opportunity to ask questions in a highly interactive setting.

Global Interdependence Center
International Dialogue Since 1976