Philadelphia Federal Credit Union Awards Six $1000 Scholarships

June 12, 2008- Philadelphia Federal Credit Union is pleased to announce the winners of the 2008 Scholarship program. They are: Jessica Dignam (Mount Saint Joseph Academy, on to the University of Pennsylvania), Roneisha Smith Davis (Philadelphia High School for Creative and Performing Arts, on to Temple University), Caitlin Cavanaugh (Danville High School, on to Bucknell University), Benjamin Fallon (Springfield Township High School, on to La Salle University), Gina Marie McMahon (Nazareth Academy High School, on to Saint Joseph's University) and Charles Bernard (J.R. Masterman Laboratory and Demonstration School, on to Temple University). These student members have shown great dedication, faith and perseverance in achieving their goals and should be commended not only on their fine academic performance, but also for their school involvement and community service work.

All recipients were awarded their certificates by PFCU President/CEO James McAneney. Caitlin Cavanaugh received her certificate from Connie Dent, PFCU's Bloomsburg Branch Manager. A check for $1000 will be sent directly to their chosen school used for tuition and textbooks.

PFCU began its Fifth Annual Scholarship Program in April along with the kickoff of Credit Union Youth Week. The Scholarship Program was created in 2004 to provide our young members with funds for their continuing education.

Philadelphia Federal Credit Union was founded in 1951 and is currently among the top credit unions in the city serving the entire Philadelphia and Bloomsburg, PA communities. For more information, visit pfcu.com, stop by one of the branches, or call 215-934-3500 or 800-832-PFCU (outside the metropolitan area).
