Apex IT Group Announces Headquarters Move To Cinnaminson

Apex IT Group has relocated its corporate headquarters from The Waterfront Technology Center in Camden to the bustling "Route 130 Corridor" in Cinnaminson.

CINNAMINSON, NEW JERSEY (September 2008) -- Apex IT Group, a fast-growth proactive managed IT services organization which abides by a strict ethical code of conduct, reports it has recently relocated its corporate headquarters from The Waterfront Technology Center in Camden to the bustling Route 130 Corridor in Cinnaminson. Apex IT Group provides proactive technology management solutions and expert resources to maximize and enhance the availability of all business applications - hardware, network devices and other critical network services.

Serving the needs of diverse small to midsized organizations, Apex IT Group's professional services provide best-of-breed technology consulting to help ensure that all critical company information systems are supported and company processes are enhanced and maximized to deliver a true return on any technology investment. From network analysis and design, to systems integration, 24x7 support, training and certification, the experienced consultants at Apex IT Group complement any existing IT department with on-demand, specialized skill sets. Apex IT Group's professional services include data backup and storage, disaster recovery and integration and support. From unlimited remote and on-site support to IT In-Sourcing, Apex IT Group offers custom-tailored solutions that support mission-critical business goals, help build bottom line performance and have peace of mind.

In related recent Apex IT Group news, the company has also reported it is now an active member of three leading regional business chambers - Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Cherry Hill Regional Chamber of Commerce and Burlington County Chamber of Commerce. "We are excited to take these great steps forward in working even more strategically with the great companies that power the Delaware Valley business community," reports George Mach-CEO. "Our new headquarters and our expanded affiliation and activities with leading regional business chambers solidifies our stance as the IT company of greatest merit and choice within our regional business community, as well as our dedication to helping our region's companies perform to their greatest potential from a technological standpoint."

"We are growing rapidly as a direct result of our business model and demand for client centered services," reports John Giordano, Chief Operating Officer for Apex IT Group. Giordano reports that the Rutgers Camden Technology Center (RCTC) contributed to the success of Apex IT Group by committing to the organization and providing strategic support and guidance, as well as a foundation for the growth of Apex IT Group. The growth and momentum of Apex IT Group is also visible in the company's recent decision to be active members of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Cherry Hill Regional Chamber of Commerce and Burlington County Chamber of Commerce - an initiative that is part of the company's aggressive growth and outreach campaign to inform leading Delaware Valley businesses of the diverse portfolio of services and performance offerings of Apex IT Group. "Apex IT Group is on the move," reports Giordano. "And we would like to thank Bill Reynolds, CEO, as well as Frank Keith, Director, of the Rutgers Camden Business Development Center for helping Apex IT Group take these tremendous growing steps."
