Stradley Ronon Partner Elected to Philadelphia Bar Association Board of Governors

PHILADELPHIA – Stradley Ronon partner Danielle Banks was elected to a three-year term on the Philadelphia Bar Association Board of Governors – the managing body of the PBA that is responsible for the association’s budget, overseeing committees and developing plans to make PBA more useful to its members. The board also determines the association’s position on public issues and litigation affecting the legal profession. Banks currently serves as co-chair of the Women in the Profession Committee of the Philadelphia Bar Association.

As a partner in the firm’s litigation practice group, Banks represents companies and individuals in employment law matters, including claims brought under Title VII, Section 1981, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family Medical Leave Act and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. She also defends clients in Section 1983, Title VI and Fair Housing Act matters. Additionally, her practice includes products liability litigation as well as other complex commercial litigation.
