Agoos/Lovera Architects announces that Phase I of the Strath Haven Middle School project has recently completed construction. Students and teachers returned from Spring Break to the new 94,000 square foot addition housing academic classrooms, science labs, the music department and the library and reading center. The new addition represents a major technological and environmental upgrade to the existing facilities. Phase II of the project is now building momentum as the existing 1952 building enters renovation with the building being largely stripped back to existing structure and reconstructed in an energy-efficient manner.
